Dear Dr. Cogliano,

I am writing to follow-up on the invitation you received last week (attached and below) to find out if you will be able to attend either or both workshops being held here at Pew next week. We would love it if you were able to make it.

Subject: Invitation to April 19 and 20 Workshops at Pew

On behalf of The Pew Charitable Trusts, Nature Journal, and the Institute of Food Technologists, I would like to invite you to two separate workshops on April 19 and 20, 2012 in Washington, DC. April 19th's workshop is titled "Enhancing FDA's Food Additives Program to Ensure the Safety of Substances Added to Food" and the second day's workshop is titled "Non-monotonic dose responses: Relevance and implications for food." For the April 19 workshop, please complete page 3 of the invitation and send your recommendations back via this email. Authors of the review article Hormones and Endocrine Disrupting Chemicals: Low Dose Effects and Non-Monotonic Dose Responses (attached), which was published online in Endocrine Reviews on March 16, 2012, will present their analysis and participate in a facilitated discussion in the second day workshop.

If you would like to participate in one of or both of the workshop(s), please respond to this email as soon as possible as space is limited. For questions, contact Erin Bongard at 202-540-6504 or ebongard@pewtrusts.org.

Please see the attached invitation for details.
